INDIAN COUNCIL.

Superintendent of Indian Affairs Murphy writes to the Indian Bureau from Fort Ellsworth, Kansas, July 29th, informing the Commissioner of his arrival on the 28th ult. The next day he called on General Sully, at Fort Harker, who informed him he had about ten days previous to the date of the Superintendent's letter met in council at Fort Larned the Kiowas, Camanches, Apaches, Cheyennes and Arrapahoes. The Cheyennes were cross and sullen, because of not having received their supply of arms and ammunition from the Government, while the Kiowas and Camanches were sullen and impudent because of the scarcity of provisions among them. General Sully had collected all of the army that was effective in the neighborhood of Fort Larned and posted them in position, which had a good effect on the refractory Indians, and they had stated their willingness to await the action of their Great Father in sending them provisions. The reason why the Kiowas have not been supplied with arms and ammunition is because of their recent violation of treaty stipulations, they having made war on the Kaws, who are friendly to the whites, besides having invaded the Government reservations for warlike purposes. About 1,200 lodges, consisting of 6,000 Indians, were present at the council held by Gen. Sully. Many of them were still in the neighborhood of Ft. Larned, but at the date of Supt. Murphy's report everything was quiet, although some of the Indians had been stealing whenever they could get an opportunity. The reported killing of a Lieutenant and five soldiers some days ago is denied by Superintendent Murphy. Reports state that while the Indians are now quiet, unless aided by the Government they may resort to extensive stealing rather than starve, which may lead to other serious difficulties this fall, unless provision is made to keep them from suffering for food. The Indian Department, however, feel assured that with the means of provision now under the direction of Gen. Sherman all difficulties with the Indians will be averted.

MILITARY AT THE SOUTH—CONCENTRATION.

General Meade has issued a general order, dated Atlanta, July 30th, announcing that as civil governments have been inaugurated in the States of Georgia, Florida and Alabama, in conformity to the acts of Congress, the military power vested in the District Commander ceases to exist, and the orders issuing from his heardquarters and bearing upon the rights of persons and property will have only such force as may be given to them by the Courts and Legislatures of those States. To confirm the changed condition of affairs he directs the withdrawal of detachments of troops and their concentration as follows:

In Georgia the sixteenth regiment of infantry will be stationed, one company at Dahlonga, two companies at Savannah, commanded by the Major, and seven companies, commanded by the Lieutenant Colonel, at Atlanta.

In Alabama, the thirty-third infantry will have two companies at Mobile and eight companies at Huntsville, these posts to be commanded by the Major and Lieutenant Colonel, respectively. Gen. Ruger is assigned to command of the District of Alabama, with head quarters at Huntsville.

The 15th infantry is ordered to concentrate at Mobile, under the commander, Brevet Brigadier General O. L. Shepherd, with a view to its transfer to Texas, in compliance with orders from the War Department.

General Ruger will relieve General Shepherd as Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau and discharge the duties pending the action of the Commissioner of the Bureau.

Companies G and C, 5th Cavalry, are to act as escort and guard of the Major General commanding at Atlanta.

In Florida the six companies of the 7th regiment are stationed as follows: At St. Augustine, two companies; at Tampa Bay, two companies; at Jacksonville, two companies; headquarters of regiment and district at St. Augustine, and the Colonel will assign the Lieutenant Colonel to the post of Jacksonville and the Major to that of the Tampa Bay.

In conclusion Gen. Meade says: The discontinuance of posts and cessation of control over civil matters will enable large reductions to be made in the personal of the command. All unnecessary staff officers, clerical labor, &c., will at once be ordered to their companies and every effort made to retrench expenditures and enforce economy. Inspecting officers are instructed to give especial attention to the manner in which the above is executed and report any failure to comply with the same.

STATISTICS OF IMPORTS.

The Director of the Bureau of Statistics has just completed the statistics of our imports from all foreign countries to the close of the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1868, specie and bullion included. The total is $371,971,441; total for previous year $411,731,104—showing a decrease of forty millions. Our heaviest importations occurred in March last, and the whole movement is constant and steady at the rate of about one million and one-tenth per diem. The tables include the returns from the Pacific Coast, embracing California, Oregon and Alaska.

FREEDMEN'S BUREAU INSPECTION.

Gen. Howard will start for the South this afternoon. His object is to visit all the principal bureau stations and confer with his officers as to the best manner of reducing the force, preparatory to a final winding up of bureau affairs on the first of January. He will also investigate the requirements of the educational branch when the other functions of the bureau have been discontinued.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT CHANGES.

In view of the changes taking place among the employés of the Treasury Department at Washington, Secretary M'Culloch has directed the appointment clerk to receive no more applications for office, from men or women, and to return those already received to the respective parties who presented them.

CASE DECIDED.

A dispatch from Richmond states that Judge Meredith, of the Circuit Court, has decided in the case of the Exchange and Farmers' Bank against certain parties for the recovery in current funds of debts contracted prior to the war, that the banks are compelled to take their own issue in discharge of the obligations. The case will be taken to the Court of Appeals.

POSTAL MATTERS.

A paragraph was recently telegraphed hence saying, among other things, that the voluntary increase of pay granted by the Postmaster General to contractors on the Northwestern roads has added to the deficit of the Department. There is no authority for saying this. The assertion is entirely without foundation. The Postmaster General under the law has no discretion to fix the pay for service on the route, and increased compensation for service can be allowed only in proportion to the increase of service.

GAUGERS AND INSPECTORS.

No gaugers or inspectors under the spirits and tobacco tax law have been appointed. There are many applicants. About one hundred and twenty commissions for the former class have been made out at the Internal Revenue Bureau, but none have been signed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

NEW ORLEANS POSTMASTER SUSPENDED.

Colonel W. W. Smallwood was to-day designated by the Postmaster General to take charge of the Postoffice at New Orlans, in place of the present incumbent, who has been suspended on various charges.

PATENTS ISSUED.

Two hundred and ninety-one patents will have been issued from the Patent Office for the week ending to-morrow. Three hundred and eighty-five applications have been made and seventy-two caveats entered.

REVENUE BUREAU SOLICITOR.

The Solicitor of Internal Revenue, Binckley, will enter upon the discharge of his duties to-morrow.

NEW YORK, August 3, 1868.

THE DEATH OF GEN. HALPINE.

An inquest was commenced upon the body of General Halpine, whose family physician gave the opinion that death resulted from congestion of the brain and spinal cord, superinduced by the accidental use of chloroform, which he had been in the habit of taking to procure quietude after excitement induced by severe mental exercise. He leaves a wife and six children. His life was insured for $10,000

NEW ORLEANS.

A Negro "Dimocrat" Attacked and Threatened—Great Excitement.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, August 3.—A negro named Will Robbins has been making Democratic speeches to the negroes in this city for weeks past. Several attempts have been made on his life. On Saturday night a crowd followed him and tried to drag him from a street car in which he took refuge. He was arrested on a charge of inciting riot and released on bail. Yesterday another attack with slung shots was made on him. This morning, on appearing before the Recorder, it was found that the original charge of inciting riot had been dropped and the charge of carrying concealed weapons substituted; but he was discharged by the Recorder. On being released, Robbins' life was again threatened by negroes, but he was escorted by his friends to the rooms of the Constitutional Club on Canal street. The streets in the neighborhood were soon filled with crowds and the excitement increased. Gov. Warmouth appeared and made a short but effective speech, telling the negroes they should rather protect Robbins in the public expression of his opinions than seek to deprive him of that right. He advised them to disperse and go home, which they did.

GEORGIA.

Affray Between Negroes and Whites—Legislative Proceedings.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ATLANTA, August 3.—Last Friday an affray took place between the whites and negroes at Gobra School House, Gwennett County. It was caused by some negroes selling whiskey at the school exhibition. She made affidavit before she died that an instrumental abortion was produced by the two doctors named. Dr. Lion was placed under bonds of $1,500 for trial on Thursday, and Dr. Sperry in $5000 to appear August 11th. They procured bail.

South Carolina Legislature.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

COLUMBUS, S. C., August 3.—A bill passed the Legislature to-day reducing the bonds of State officers. Mr. Whipple, colored, a Republican, opposed the reduction of bonds of Niles G. Parker, State Treasurer, on the following grounds, which were entered on the journal: first, it would impair the credit of the State; second, the funds would go into the hands of a man who had offered straw bonds and proved unworthy of confidence by promising the bills of the State to any man who would go in his bond; third, he was a man of doubtful character and doubtful honesty; fourth, improper influences had been used to play upon the credulity of members of the Legislature.

A bill will be introduced to surround the Treasury with additional safeguards.

The young man who was shot by the unknown member of the Legislature, last Saturday night, is dead. There is much excitement in the community over this event.

The Kentucky Election.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, August 3.—The election held in the State of Kentucky to-day was for Governor, Circuit Judges, Commonwealth Attorney and other smaller offices. The result has been a victory for the Democratic party. The following is the vote of the city of Louisville: Stevenson, Dem., 8,244; Baker, 492; Stevenson's majority, 7,852. All the other regular Democratic candidates, ten in number, who were opposed by independent Democrats, were elected by majorities ranging from five to seven thousand, except Weiman, for Marshal, of the Chancery Court, whose majority is about twenty-nine hundred. Returns from the State everywhere show large increase of Democratic majorities, and falling off in the Radical vote. Unless the vote is unexpectedly small in the interior counties, Stevenson's majority will probably reach fifty or sixty thousand.

Alabama Legislature.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MONTGOMERY, ALA., August 3.—In the Senate to-day the only bill of importance discussed was the disability bill. No definite action.

In the House a large number of bills, of local interest only, were passed. The common carrier bill created an animated discussion. It was argued that only the original bill could be properly put to the House and that the Clerk had no right to read to from the printed copy. The original could not be found, having been lost by the Committee to which it was referred. This created great confusion. Motions were made and appeals from the decision of the Chair taken in rapid succession. Amidst much disorder the House adjourned until to-morrow. The passage of the bill is considered doubtful.

Florida Legislature.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

TALLAHASSE, August 3.—The Legislature to-day passed a bill requiring all telegraph operators in the State to take the oath of secrecy, and providing a penalty of fine and imprisonment for the divulgence of any message; also a bill taking the election of delegates to the Electoral College from the people and placing it in the Legislature. Also a bill giving colored people every privilege of whites on all railroads of the State. A similar bill relating to hotels was introduced and will probably pass.

MILWAUKEE, August 3.—The nominations of Seymour and Blair were ratified by the Democrats to-night. Among the speakers were Hon. J. R. Doolittle and Hon. S. J. Tilden. The meeting was spirited and well attended. Resolutions were passed endorsing the candidates and pledging the meeting to work to secure the success of the ticket next November.

Tennessee Legislature.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, August 3.—In the State Senate to-day Mr. Smith, of Shelby, introduced a bill to suppress organizations parading in masks. Referred to the Judiciary Committee. No action has yet been taken upon the proposition to call out the militia.

IN THE COUNTRY.

Trip Over the Panhandle—Chartiers Valley—Ride in the "Boot" of a Coach—Commencement at Washington and Jefferson College—First of August Celebration—Cutting Affray.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 3, 1868.

A visit to the country is a luxury not often indulged in by "ye local," and for that reason, perhaps, is by him more fully appreciated. An opportunity having been afforded us of spending a few days in the "rural districts" we shipped for this point, arrived after a tiresome journey of seven hours, and will give our readers an account of

THE TRIP.

At 3:45 p. m., on Saturday, the first instant, having previously purchased a ticket for Washington, via the Panhandle Railroad to McDonald's station, thence by Messrs. Hare & Son's line of stages, we took passage in the Steubenville accommodation train, and upon entering the car found two exceedingly pleasant traveling companions, one being our very efficient Prothonotary, and the other a prominent young "limb of the law," both shipped for the same point as ourselves. The Conductor cried "all aboard," pulled the bell rope and the train started. In a few minutes we passed through the city tunnel, crossed the Monongahela bridge, and the engineer whistled "down brakes" for the South Pittsburgh station. There the number of passengers, which was already quite respectable, was largely increased, filling the cars to their utmost capacity. The bell rope was once more brought into requisition, and we were once more set in motion, passing along the side of the hill, at a sufficient height above the level of the dingy, smoky iron mills and glass houses of Monongahela Borough and West Pittsburgh to afford the passengers a most delightful view of Pittsburgh and Allegheny City. A momentary stop was made at Temperanceville Station, and we were again moving westward. Leaving the city, with its smoke and dust in the rear, we went whirling down the south bank of the Ohio, from whence we had a delightful view of the lower portion of Allegheny, which, from its numerous shade trees, now thick with foliage, reminds one of the "Forest City." Arriving at the mouth of Chartiers creek, we leave the river, and passing through a deep ravine emerge into a rich and fertile valley, in which the hand of industry and spirit of improvement are alike apparent at every point. Leaving this valley the road is cut through an immense hill and emerges into another valley more extensive and far more picturesque than the first. Here the vast coal fields are entered, and for the first time since leaving the city the necessity of a double track becomes apparent to the passenger, and we presume more so to the employes of the road, as considerable delay was occasioned in passing an immense coal train. All along the line of the road, as far as we traveled over it, the land is fertile and in a high state of cultivation, and is marked with the improvement which always follows the completion of a railroad through a rich agricultural or mineral country.

Nothing of unusual interest occurred during the ride over the road, except the slaughter of a flock of geese which failed to heed the warning given by the engineer, the result of which was quite a number of them were killed and crippled.

THE STAGE RIDE.

We arrived at McDonald's Station at five o'clock, and, as soon as we could get our baggage, made for the stage, to secure a seat, with a degree of haste which we afterward found to be altogether unnecessary, as the driver had kindly "reserved" us a seat on the "hind boot," having crowded the other seventeen passengers—two ladies and fifteen gentlemen—all holding tickets calling for a first-class passage to Canonsburg or Washington—in the inside and on top of the vehicle, which was only constructed for the accommodation of nine passengers. After stowing away the baggage, of which there was a considerable quantity, "Jehu" mounted the box, cracked his whip, and we left the station at a "snail's gallop," which was kept up to the end of the journey. The road, with the exception of that portion of it which is "corduroyed," is comparatively smooth, but we found our seat on the "boot" rather an unpleasant one, as it required all our attention, skill and strength to maintain it.

Among the passengers were Mr. Swan, editor of the Washington Examiner, and Mr. Grayson, of the Meadville Democrat, who, like ourselves, had been accommodated with "deck passage" and also five others—gentlemen whose names we have forgotten. Notwithstanding the heavy load, we reached Canonsburg, a distance of nine miles from Donald's Station, at eight o'clock.

AT WASHINGTON.

After changing horses and taking supper at Canonsburg, we started for Washington, where we arrived at ten o'clock.

This is Commencement week at Washington and Jefferson College. Although the exercises will take place at Canonsburg, there are quite a number of persons in town, who have come to attend the examination of the classes here, and we presume will also visit Canonsburg to witness the exercises there.

The citizens of Washington appear to have had a surfeit of politics during the last five years, and have become disgusted. Consequently there is very little political excitement here.

Saturday, the first of August, was celebrated by the colored people of this locality by a grand pic-nic, which was participated in by the entire colored population. The fact of this affair being allowed to pass without interruption, is of itself an evidence of improvement in the political feeling in this place, and the entire community, of both parties, are well satisfied with the change.

A CUTTING AFFRAY.

An affray occurred here on Saturday night between two negroes named Bolen and Freeman, in which the latter was severely cut with a razor. After the picnic a number of colored people adjourned to a house in "Hayti," in the upper portion of the town, to have a dance, where a difficulty took place between the parties named, when Bolen drew a razor from his pocket and struck Freeman twice, each time inflicting a severe gash on his breast. Bolen has not yet been arrested. R.

—An atrocious murder was committed at Sharpsburg, Vermont, Saturday evening. A dispute had long existed between two families named Plumely and Balch, and while the appraisers were engaged in settling up the damages caused by a horse of the latter, a quarrel broke out in which indiscriminate firing took place, and a young man not at all interested in the dispute, named Johnson Gilman, was killed by Horace R. Plumely.

—Dispatch from Helena, Montana, says Major Cullen, Superintendene of Indian Affairs, had returned. He made treaties with the River Crows and Grosventres at Fort Hawley, and the Pigans at Fort Benton. He expects to treat with the Bloods and Blackfeet in September. He will get them all on reservations the coming winter. Weather turned quite cool, with fresh northwest wind. Mercury 78 at 6 P. M.

MOUNTAIN JOTTINGS.

We desire to say to the readers of our "Mountain Jottings" that we do not belong to the "Jenkins family," not even a cousin of the remotest grade. We propose to deal in facts not fancies of the brain, as the glowing letters of the Jenkins tribe indicate from their high coloring.

Comparatively few persons are aware of there being such a beautiful spot as the "Mountain House," at Cresson, on the summit of the Alleghenies. Nature and muscle, and money, have made the locality a lovely spot, where visitors can enjoy a vast amount of comfort not found in the pent-up-heated cities. Being in the neighborhood we took occasion to visit this far-famed garden spot, and spend several hours. The grounds are very extensive, embracing some hundreds of acres, and almost entirely covered with forest timber. The hotel buildings are located on a beautiful slope, above the dent for the railroad track, and almost hid to sight by the dense foilage. It is an admirable location, and full of romantic interest. During the hottest weather visitors have felt but little heat, and the evenings are especially delightful and cool.

Besides the hotel proper quite a number of elegant cottages dot the spacious grounds. All the cottages are now occupied for the season. The hotel is full and will likely remain so during the heated term. Visitors, however, are constantly on the wing, by which new comers are furnished with accommodations. Many come for a day only, or a portion of one, thus multidues enjoy this favorite spot.

The guests are generally from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Quite a number, however, are from New York, Baltimore, Boston and Washington City. Visitors are also from Cincinnati and other Western localities. Among the Pittsburghers we note the names of Wm. Thaw and family; Wm. M. Hersh and family; James Laughlin and wife; Hon. J. K. Moorhead's family; Max. Moorhead and family; Wm. J. Moorhead and family; D. E. Parke and family; Bateman Goe and family; George W. Dilworth and family; Algernon S. Bell and wife; Col. A. S. M. Morgan and family; Jacob Painter; A. E. W. Painter and family; Mrs. E. O'Hara and family; F. R. Brunot and wife; Dr. J. G. McCandless and family; D. A. Estep and wife; Henry McCullough; Rev. John S. Sand; Mrs. Judge Jones and family; David Reed and family; G. T. McCormick and sister; J. Auday; George A. Berry and family; W. R. Murphy; D. C. Phillips and wife; H. Stoner; D. R. Galway; R. W. Mackey; Graham Scott; James P. Hanna and family; E. P. Carpenter and wife; O. H. Phillips, Jr.; Misses Bissels; G. F. McCleane and wife; W. McKnight, Jr.; Mrs. James O'Connor; J. Kelly, Jr.; H. A. Boardman, Jr.; W. S. McKee; John McKee; James E. Anderson; James O'Hara; Ed. Hughes; James Greggor.

Judge Jewett, of the "Panhandle Road," and family, are among the visitors. Gen. A. E. Burnside, Governor of Rhode Island, was among the guests on Thursday. Mrs. Lincoln and her son "Tad" left for the East on Wednesday evening. General Anderson, the hero of Fort Sumpter, has spent considerable time here, but has left.

The noticable feature of this place is the absence of many of the sham customs which prevail at fashionable places of resort. Families adopt much the same habits in their toilet preparation as at home, except, perhaps, in the evening, when the guests assemble on the spacious porticos for promenade and for social conversation, or to take part in the "extempore hops," introduced in the large dining room. With this view, the proprietor has provided a band of musicians to discourse sweet music. The bane of watering places is the prodigality encouraged by expensive dressing, gaming, intemperance, etc. Most of these fashionable resorts are located in a village, or in close proximity, inducing a degree of immoralities that render such places offensive to the better class of persons. The Mountain House at Cresson Springs is free from these annoyances. It is literally a community by itself, without the excresences named.

Not the least noticeable feature is the class of well-to-do people gathered here. Men of solid worth and solid means, who are not in sympathy with the namby-pamby notions of fast people or fast places. Mr. G. W. Mullin deserves well the patronage so liberally bestowed upon him, for the extensive outlay he has made to make this "wilderness blossom as the rose," and afford so much substantial comfort to visitors during the heated term. Mr. Mullin superintends in person, and is ably assisted by his brother. Cresson being of easy access and not very distant from Pittsburgh, we look for many visitors from the Smoky City.

U. S. Court—Judge M'Candless.

In the case of the United States vs. seventy barrels of Schenck's beer and other property owned by Andrew Koenig, a decree of forfeiture was entered, except as to that part of the property claimed by Louis Stitz, which, upon motion of District Attorney Carnahan, with approbation of the Commissioners of Revenue, was ordered to be released.

In the bankruptcy branch, Ellis Morris, of Titusville, was granted a final discharge, and awarded a certificate to that effect.

Petitions for final discharge were filed by Patrick Sheridan, of Luzerne county, Wm. B. Keyes, of Tioga county, Henry Jacobs, of Luzerne county, Laton Leach, of Luzerne county, Arthur Cannon, of Luzerne county, Levi M. Cross, of McKean county, George A. Streit, of Blair county, Wm. W. Thomas, of Erie county, Thomas Myers, of Luzerne county, and Jacob Kunz, of Erie county.

In the matter of John P. Brush, bankrupt, on application of H. Shaffer, creditor, an order was issued for bankrupt's examination.

LOVED TOO LATE.

Far off in the dim and desolate Past—
That shoreless and sorrowful sea
Where wrecks are driven by waves and blast,
Shattered, sunken, and lost at last,
Lies the heart that was broken for me—
Poor heart!
Long ago broken for me!

My loves were Glory and Pride and Art—
Ah, dangerous rivals three!
Sweet lips might quiver and warm tears start;
Should an artist pause for a woman's heart—
Even that which was broken for me!
Poor heart!
Too rare to be broken for me!

Oh, she was more mild than the Summer wind,
More fair than the lilies be;
More true than the star with twilight twinned,
Was the spirit against whose love I sinned—
The heart that was broken for me—
Poor heart!
Cruelly broken for me!

I told her an artist should wed his art—
That only, his love should be;
No other should lure me from mine apart,
I said; and my cold words chilled her heart—
The heart that was broken for me—
Poor heart!
Hopelessly broken for me!

I spoke of the beautiful years to come,
In the lands beyond the sea—
Those years which must be wearisome
To her; but her patient lips were dumb;
In silence it broke for me!
Poor heart!
Broke, yet complained not for me!

I pressed her hand, and rebuked her tears,
Lightly and carelessly;
I said my triumphs should reach her ears,
And left her alone with dismal years,
And the heart that was breaking for me—
Poor heart!
Patiently breaking for me!

My days were a dream of Summer time,
My life was a victory;
Fame wove bright garlands to crown my prime,
And I half forgot in that radiant clime
The heart that was breaking for me—
Poor heart!
Patiently breaking for me!

But my whole life seemed, as the swift years rolled,
More hollow and vain to be;
Fame's bosom at best is hard, and cold—
Oh! I would have given all praises and gold
For the heart that was broken for me—
Poor heart!
Thanklessly broken for me!

Sick with longing, hope, and dread,
I hurried across the sea;
She had wasted, as though with grief, they said—
Poor child, poor child!—and was long since dead:
Ah! dead for the love of me—
Poor heart!
Broken, and vainly, for me!

Weighed down by a load too heavy to hold,
She died murmuringly!
And I, remorseful and unconsoled,
I dream of the wasted days of old,
And the heart that was broken for me—
Poor heart!
Broken so vainly for me!

And my soul cries in bitter pain
For the bliss that cannot be—
For the love that never can come again,
For the sweet young life that was lived in vain,
And the heart that was broken for me—
Poor heart!
Broken and buried for me!

Harvard College.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin says: It seems that, out of a large number of applicants for admittance to Harvard College, very few were successful, and the correspondent of a daily paper hints that the preparatory work has not been thoroughly done. We have received the prospectus of a gentleman well known to the community, who offers his services to Parents and Guardians, as an instruetor of youth in those branches which he says are absolutely essential to a student of the present day, and from the recent occurrences at Worcester, Mass., on the occasion of the Regatta, we presume that many will agree with him.

MR. WM. SYKES

Respectfully offers his services as a trainer of youth, to gentlemen who wish their sons perfectly prepared for Harvard or Yale College.

TRAINING.

Mr. Sykes' long and valuable experience as a trainer of prize fighters and fighting dogs particularly qualifies him for the more arduous business in the training line for which he now presents himself.

CREDENTIALS.

Mr. S. has served short sentences (until pardoned out) in all of the principal penal institutions of the country, is a skillful cracksman, terrific rough-and-tumble fighter, and though but resident a short time in Boston his name will be found on the books of nearly every station house in the city. He has had frequent and honorable mention in the Police Court reports and flash newspapers, has fought three prize fights, and been decorated on different occasions with a broken nose, a slit ear and a gouged eye, and is ready to sign articles with any man of his weight in the country; man and money can be found at The Dead Rabbit, Gin Lane, North street.

DEPARTMENTS.

Mr. Sykes has fitted up the building in which the above popular saloon is located, without regard to the laws or expense, as a preparatory school for young gentlemen about entering college, and has every advantage for turning them out perfect blackguards in shorter time and at much less expense than the same experience can be acquired anywhere outside of Harvard or Yale Colleges.

TASTE AND ART COURSE.

On the first floor of the Institute will be found the popular drinking-saloon, well known as "The Dead Rabbit." The bar is stocked with the purest imported liquors that can be manufactured from benzine and alcohol, and the best Connecticut cigars. This saloon is already the resort of some of the most dangerous ruffians in the country. Muscular bar-keepers have been engaged, and a rough-and tumble fight can be depended on almost every evening. In the basement a commodious rat and dog pit has been built, and dog fights, rat killings, coon drawings, and other instructive lectures will be regularly given to the pupils.

MORAL AND ENTERTAINING.

In the second story a New York concert hall, with private supper rooms, pretty waiter girls, &c. In the third story are the handsomely arranged gambling rooms of the institution, finely furnished for faro, roulette, keno, props, and other fashionable games, with a large corps of experienced blacklegs constantly in attendance.

THE LANGUAGES.

Nothing but the purest slang and thieves' argot will be spoken on the premises. Pupils will be under the personal supervision of Mr. Sykes, who, aided by competent professors in every department, will instruct them in the choicest slang, pugilism, drinking, smoking, chewing, swearing, and minor branches.

PRACTICAL SCIENCE.

Included in the course of instruction will be a prize-fight, which will come off at some quiet town in the vicinity of Boston, and which will be conducted in strict accordance with the P. R., and with all the brutality, thieving, rowdyism, and cruelty, which distinguish such entertainments. Pupils will make nightly tours of the city, accompanied by Mr. Sykes' for the purpose of becoming acquainted with the different barrooms and dance-halls of the city, and practicing wrenching off bell-pulls, breaking glass, frightening women, and inspecting station-houses.

It will be readily seen that Mr. Sykes' institution will possess the very best advantages for fitting young gentlemen for the elevating tendencies of of a college life.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

The terms are $1,000 for the course of three months, snd found in whisky and cigars.

Every pupil will have his head shaved before entering, and come provided with

1 pair Brass-Knuckles,
1 Pocket-Flask,
6 Packs Cards,
1 Slung-Shot,
1 Revolver,
1 Bull-Terrier Pup.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, August 3, 1868.

The general markets are moderately active, but notwithstanding there is a fair volume of business in the aggregate, there is neverthless plenty of room for improvement. Now that harvesting is about finished, the crops will soon commence to move, and we entertain hopes that a decided improvement in business is near at haud.

RIVER NEWS.

The Monongahela River very unexpectedly commenced to rise on Sunday night, which continued steadily all day yesterday, and last evening the pier marks indicated nine feet two inches and still rising slowly. It was reported falling above, however, and we may expect to see it receding here to-day. The weather continues cloudy and unsettled with every appearance of more rain. Considerable rain fell early on Monday morning.

The rise was so sudden and unlooked for that our steamboat men were completely taken by surprise, and, as a consequence there are quite a number of boats that will hardly be able to get out from the fact that they are undergoing repairs.

The towboat men were busily engaged in getting both tows and boats in readiness, and it is probable that a large number of boats with tows of "Black Diamonds" will get out to-day. One or two it is thought would get off last night, but the great majority of them could not possibly get ready before to-day.

The Kate Robinson, in command of Capt. Marsh Hays, is announced to leave for Cincinnati and Louisville to-day without fail, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

The Bellevernon, Capt. J. J. Darragh, Jr., is announced to leave for St. Louis and all intermediate points to-day without fail. Capt. Darragh says he is determined to go, so that passengers and shippers need not be uneasy on this score.

The towboat Monitor with her keelboat arrived from Parkersburg on Sunday with a fair trip. It is not likely that the Pittsburgh and Parkersburg packets, Bayard and Eagle, will venture out on this rise, as it is believed that it will be of short duration.

There is no rise in the Allegheny, a telegram from Oil City reporting but nineteen inches and falling.

A private telegram from Burning Springs, Virginia, reports some oil boats as having left there yesterday for Pittsburgh, drawing four and a half feet of water.

Capt. Hugh Campbell left Cincinnati for Coal Port on Saturday to look after the Mary Davage.

The steamer B. L. Hodge was sold by the United States Marshal at New Orleans, on Tuesday, to Mr. E. Conery, for $21,150.

—The following boats are laid up at New Albany, nearly all of them undergoing thorough repairs; John Kilgour, P. W. Strader, Cora S., W. F. Curtiss, Dick Fulton, Simson Horner, Alps, Comet, Swallow, Grand Lake, and Phil. Sheriden.

—The Louisville Courier of Saturday says: The Ida Reese, which boat grounded on Portland bar Thursday, backed out yesterday, and concluded to double trip it. She got over all right the first, but struck on the second trip, and was still there at last accounts.

—A St. Louis telegram under date of Friday says: The Quincy Packet and Northwestern Union Packet Companies were today consolidated into the Northwestern Union Packet Company, the Quincy Packet Company furnishing the following boats: Tom. Jasper, Mollie McPike and Victor.

—The Memphis Avalanche, mentioning the arrival of the Emma No. 5 from New Orleans, bound for Cincinnati, recklessly makes the assertion that "the clerk, who is probably one of the meanest men in Christendom, made himself scarce, and hid until the boat backed out, to keep from paying the warfage.

—Up to ten o'clock Wednesday last the Tennessee river had risen ten feet, and was still swelling at the rate of half an inch per hour. Fears were entertained that the fine crops and the creek bottoms would be overflowed and badly damaged. The rains of the previous Saturday and Sunday nights were among the heaviest ever known in that region.

—The Cincinnati Commercial of Saturday says: Capt. James H. Peppers "new, large and magnificent steamer, Thompson Dean, raised steam yesterday, and made a short trial trip up and down the river. Every thing worked as well as could be expected, and from the manner in which she sailed past the wharf, we feel confident that she will prove to be a "lightning" packet. She went down as far as Sedamsville, where sh ewill remain for some time in order to have the finishing touches put on her.

—We clip the following from the St. Louis Democrat of Saturday: Captain Charles Beer is stopping at the Everett House in this city, He brought the steamer Natrona from Pittsburgh, up White river, into Black river, and onward and up that stream to Poplar Bluffs, in the heart of Butler county, Missouri. The owners of the boat have contracted to clear out the obstructions from Black river, from Boplar Bluffs to the State line, so as to secure better steamboat navigation.

—Captain John A. Williams has a similar contract, and was engaged with a little steamer on Black river at the breaking out of the war. We have heard it said that Williams was so delighted with the country that he secured some thousands of acres, to which he will retire when he has made a competence on the river. However that may be, Captain Beer inspected the country and bought two tracts in Butler and adjoining county, and was astonished to find what an immense amount of magnificent land could be purchased for a trifling sum.

—The St. Louis Republican of Saturday says: The presence, in this city, for some days past, of Capt. Wm. F. Davidson and Mr. Wm. Rhodes, the President and Secretary of the Northwestern Union Packet Company, or more popularly known as the "White Collar" line, has been the subject of a great deal of comment and speculation, all of which was set at rest yesterday by the announcement that the managers of the St. Louis and Quincy Packet Company had, for reasons best known to themselves, transferred the stock and material of their Company, consisting of three steamboats, viz: Tom Jasper, Victory and Mollie McPike, and the wharfboat J. C. Swan, to the Northwestern Union Packet Company, and the two lines, now united and consolidated, will continue the business under the title of the Northwestern Union Packet Company. This consolidation virtually puts an end to the "Opposition" that has existed for the past two years in the trade between this city and Keokuk, as Captain Davidson proposes to devote his energies to the St. Paul trade, in which he now proposes to run a daily line.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 145⅝@145¾.

IT IS announced that Mr. EDWIN M. STANTON will address a Republican mass meeting, to be held in the city of New York, on one of the first days of September.

ANOTHER Presidential Convention has been called to meet at Chicago, to-morrow. It is understood to be in the interest of the friends of Women's Rights. Here is one more chance for Chief Justice CHASE.

THE carefully kept records of a New York meteorologist show that the past month of July was the hottest month that city has experienced for more than twenty-five years. The same fact, doubtless, holds of the entire northern section of the Republic.

THE statement that HORATIO SEYMOUR never has owned United States bonds, elicits the fact, also, that he was equally careful to avoid taking any of the bonds issued by his own county, during the war, for raising and fitting out troops. "Not a man, or a dollar."

WE were misled, by an announcement in a journal of Cincinnati, into the statement that Judge STANLEY MATTHEWS would run for Congress in the district now represented by CARY. We regret now to learn that "reasons of a personal and private character" compel him to decline the canvass.

THE annual Catalogue aud Circular of Washington and Jefferson College, for 1867-68, show nine Professors, two Tutors, one hundred and fifty-three students in the Academical department, thirty-one in the Scientific, and seventy-six in the Preparatory—making a total of two hundred and sixty.

A VERY recent change in the editorial management of the Cincinnati Enquirer is said to be due to the decided preference felt by the retiring editor for Mr. CHASE as a Presidential candidate, instead of either SEYMOUR or PENDLETON. Large numbers in that party are believed to be settling down into the same opinion.

THE restoration of the mail service in the Southern States has very largely contributed to the deficit of eight millions in the finances of the Postoffice Department for 1868. In '65 there was a surplus of $869,430; in '66, a deficit, the first for several years, of $965,093; in '67, this deficit amounted to near $4,000,000, and for the current year even this will be doubled. Ocean mail subsidies and increased expenditures in the North-west also have swollen the deficiency.

DEMOCRATIC EGOTISM AND DISLOYALTY.

Prior to each Presidential election, for more than thirty years, the members of the dominant faction in the Democratic party have regularly set up fierce howls in favor of nullification, or secession, or rebellion. Just in proportion as the progress of events has seemed to undermine their influence with the masses of the population, and threaten them with banishment, more or less permanent, from the seats of power they prostituted and disgraced, have these howls increased in volume and bitterness.

In 1856, when it appeared probable that Mr. JOHN C. FREMONT would be elected President, by the concurrence of a decided majority of the States, and with none of the inhabitants resting under disabilities except the blacks, they became more clamorous than ever before. In substance they claimed it to be unconstitutional for any other party than the Democratic to elect a President, to obtain majorities in the two Houses of Congress, to frame a policy for the government to pursue, and to carry that policy into effect. With unbounded arrogance, they substantially claimed, after the manner of imperial despots, to have a patent from the Almighty, and distinctly recognised in the Constitution itself, exclusively empowering them to direct and control the Government, leaving to the Republicans, and whoever else did not accept their ideas and fall in with their plans, the duty of passive obedience and the payment of such taxes as might be levied upon them. They carried this infatuation to the extent of making all the arrangements essential to a disruption of the Union in case Mr. BUCHANAN had been defeated and Mr. FREMONT elected. Gigantic frauds upon the purity of the ballot-boxes, which they perpetrated here in Pennsylvania, and which were afterwards disclosed by formal proceedings in the Courts of Philadelphia, left them in possession of the national administration, and in consequence they concluded to defer a resort to civil war for four years more, trusting to their power to intimidate their opponents, and to their ability to corrupt the elections, to renew at the expiration of that period their lease of authority.

Before the Presidential nominations were made in 1860, they became greatly alarmed in view of the manifest concentration of popular opinion and feeling against the extension of Slavery, to which extension they stood committed, as right and lawful in itself, and as necessary to the continuance of their domination in political affairs. They saw plainly that threats or frauds, on their part, would be ineffectual to prevent their banishment, and they embarked renewedly in their old conspiracy to revolutionize the government, trusting to their fierceness in the onset, and to their dexterity in manipulation, to give them success. As soon as Mr. LINCOLN was elected, they threw off the faint disguises they had previously worn, and deliberately plunged the nation into the horrors of civil war.

No sooner was the rebellion suppressed, than they reverted to the ideas and tactics which led to it. They systematically denounced everything that had been done by the government, contrary to their liking, since they were thrust out of the administration, as unconstitutional and void. They insisted that the ten seceding States, by rebellion, had wrought no forfeiture of their rights and prerogatives, but were entitled to come back, just as they were, with their Constitutions binding them to fealty to the Confederacy, and all their officers, from Governor down to pathmasters, sworn to support that fraudulent government.

For the last three months, and with increasing audacity, they have proclaimed their intention to be to resort to war again in case their interpretation of the Constitution, and their demands in behalf of the revolted States in accordance with that exegesis, shall not be accepted and complied with. We have heretofore shown the inculcations of BLAIR, HAMPTON, TOOMBS, COBB and others on these points. We now direct attention to the declaration of Mr. T. W. CLAGETT, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Keokuk, Iowa, district. He says:

"Do not Northern Radicals, who are the authors of all the miseries which have befallen our country within the last six years, know that the two million Democratic voters in the North will never permit another Radical to occupy the Presidential chair who may succeed in getting a majority of the electoral votes, either by excluding the Southern States from voting, or by forcibly depriving a majority of the white citizens of those States of the elective franchise.

"We tell them that the days of their tyranny and thieving are fast drawing to a close, and that they will go out of office at the next Presidential election either by ballots OR BY BULLETS—by ballots, if the people are allowed to vote, and by bullets if they are not."

What Mr. CLAGGETT and his associates have at heart is to prevent the Republicans from electing the next President. His and their idea is that such an election, however accomplished, would be unconstitutional. That is only a renewal of the old Democratic egotism, which sets up their explanation of the Constitution in the place of the instrument itself. He imagines General GRANT can be elected President only by excluding the seceding States from voting, or by forcibly depriving a majority of the white citizens of those States from the right of suffrage; or, if he does not so imagine, he fancies these are the good points to press upon multitudes of men who will not stop to verify whether they are well or falsely taken.

Of the ten seceding States seven have already been fully restored to representation, and will certainly participate in the election of President in November. Of the white citizens in the seceding States only ten per cent. remain under any disabilities whatever. Ninety per cent. of them voted at the recent elections in those States, or, if they did not, voluntarily refrained in order that no results might be reached under the reconstruction acts. The Republicans, as a body, are content that all white citizens of the seceding States shall vote or hold office who now bear true allegiance to the Union, no matter what they did four or six years ago. Having demonstrated their liberality in this regard, by positive enactments they will not be intimidated by BLAIR, CLAGETT and company into going the fraction of an inch farther than their convictions carry them. They have listened to the insolence of Democratic assumptions for years past without being moved thereby, and will not be deflected from their purpose by it either now or hereafter. As American citizens they have the same authority as their neighbors to construe the Constitution, to nominate candidates for President and Vice President, to elect them, as also majorities of the Senate and House of Representatives, to frame a platform or policy of administration, and to carry it into execution. All these things they have done heretofore and will do again, not asking leave of the Democrats, but in virtue of inherent right and the force of numbers. They intend to elect GRANT and COLFAX by a majority of the Electoral votes that may be legally cast, but this is not all; they intend to give GRANT and COLFAX much more than half the Electoral votes that would be cast in case all the States were reconstructed and shared in the election; and they will then be ready to meet any measures Mr. CLAGETT and his associate incendiaries may be pleased to institute.

ORGANIZATION—EACH VOTER'S DUTY.

There is no danger that any of us will over-estimate the importance of a perfect organization of the Republican strength in this Presidential canvass. It ought to be understood that this sort of work cannot be too well or too much done, even were we to succeed as well as is the regular custom of our friends in New Hampshire, who, a month before the State elections, are able to anticipate the result with a precision which has been found to approximate within one per cent. of the fact. This would still leave the issue of our polls in greater doubt than it is comfortable to contemplate. The Republicans of each county, precinct and school-district, ward and block in this Commonwealth, ought to be able to know, reliably, the complexion of every vote therein, whether for us, against us or doubtful, and, if doubtful, which way it inclines, or may be inclined, as early as the first day of September. The great battle is to be fought at the October polls; if we there suffer a decision to go against us, simply, as it would be, from our failure to get out a full vote of our friends, it would be next to an impossibility for us to repair the damage in the three weeks thereafter intervening before the Presidential election. There is but one way to ensure that full vote at the first election—and that is to know exactly who our friends are, and to complete beforehand the needful arrangements for ensuring their attendance. Pennsylvania will poll at each of the two elections not less than 600,000 votes; she gave over 597,000 votes two years since. Last year she polled but 533,000 votes, 40,000 Republicans not voting, while the opposition put in within 23,000 of their full strength. It was due to this shameful neglect that the infamous frauds of the Copperheads in Clearfield, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, were successful in obtaining the small nominal majority for that ticket. If our full vote had been out, these frauds would have been unavailing, and we should have laid the SHARSWOOD ticket out cold, in spite of its frauds, outrages, coffee-colored forgeries of naturalization and the shed blood of its murdered victims. We want all that sort of thing effectually checked this year, and the way to do it—the only way—is by organizing the proper committees, and sub-dividing the work down to each rural school district and to each block, and even to each side of each street of the block, so that the local committees shall know exactly whom to depend upon as friends or as opponents.

Give us fair play, and we have a clear majority of twenty thousand in this State, upon ordinary issues and candidates. With GRANT for our great leader, and upon the momentous issue which will divide the Commonwealth for Peace or another Civil War, we can, upon a fair contest, very nearly treble that majority. But fair play is just the very thing that the Copperhead swindlers who are managing the opposition don't mean we shall have if they can help it. They intend to beat us in October by colonizing along the borders, especially from their rebel friends in Maryland and Virginia; by fraudulent naturalizations all over the State, and by stuffing the boxes and cheating in the count wherever the chance offers. Their majority on the Supreme Bench has played an effective card right into their hands, by defeating the will of the people's representatives expressed in favor of a well-guarded and honest scheme of registry. It is understood on all hands that they have no hopes in a fair and honest election, and that they are bound to win if they can by such rascalities as we have hinted at. This villainy we attribute mainly to their leaders, the men who manipulated the outrages and murder of last October, and who are laying their plans to repeat the same infamous tactics this fall; the great mass of the Democratic party are innocent of all complicity in these crimes, except that they are not wholly guiltless so long as they continue heedlessly to place their unquestioning confidence in these rascally intriguers. We are using plain language for we are dealing with an infamous class of criminals; we hold that offenders against the purity of the suffrage are, under our Republican institutions, the greatest possible offenders against the most vital interests of the people.

The work of organization will be facilitated and its efficiency vastly promoted, if our Republican friends, each and all of them, the "high privates" in the noble army which follows GRANT'S banner of Union and Peace, will remember that every man is constituted a committee-man, to aid the county, precinct, and block-committees with his information and advice. Let every man find out who is the Vigilance Committeeman for his immediate district, and make it his business to keep him posted in the sentiments of every voter of that neighborhood. Let the local committees be in constant communication with those of the county. Let all requests for information be promptly responded to. Let every good Republican feel that his influence goes, sometimes, as far as, or even farther than, his own vote, and that if he can win one vote from the opposition, or confirm to the Union one doubtful man, he deserves well of his conscience and of a loyal country. Let each man determine that the efficiency of his own vote depends materially upon how much it is overlapped by fraudulent ballots, from strangers who have no right whatever at his poll. Let us know exactly whose ballots have a title to the same box with ours, and let us be able to say, by noon of the 13th of October, that we know every Republican vote in our immediate precinct to be securely deposited. When the preliminary work is so well done as to admit of that, the Republicans of our County and State may justly feel that their organization is complete.

POLITICAL ITEMS.

THE Democratic party congratulates itself that it can now make an offensive war. The nation will prepare to hold its nose.

GEN. BUELL, who wasted one of the finest armies in the West in a series of McClellanisms, naturally supports Seymour and Blair.

EVERY man in the South whose words betray the fact that he is yet a Rebel at heart is for Seymour and Blair. Remember this, comrades.

"I LIKE GRANT," said a German the other day, "because he don't blow. He minds his own business, and makes no fuss about it."

THE Fort Wayne (Indiana) Gazette announces that Gen. James B. Steedman repudiates Seymour and Blair. We can scarcely credit it.

MR. S. TAYLOR SUIT, to whom the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Fifth Marylrnd district was tendered, has declined to be a candidate, and will support Grant and Colsax.

MR. ARNOLD, editor of the Germania, in conversation with a citizen the other evening, said: "I have been a Democrat all my life, and I am still a Democrat, but I am no Secesh."—Zanesville Courier.

THE Hon. Thomas N. Stillwell, formerly Republican Representative in Congress rom the XIth Indiana district, who wandered off after strange gods upon the occasion of Johnson's apostacy, is now earnestly at work for Grant and Colfax.

ONE OF THOUSANDS.—Said a well known Democrat to us yesterday, "I have about made up my mind to vote for Grant. I can't stand the rebel crew which Seymour is gathering about him." Such observations are very common just now.

HON. DAVID KILGOUR, who has been identified with the Johnson party of Indiana, and who for the past two years has been claimed by the Democrats, refuses to support either the Democratic State or National tickets. He goes for Grant, Colfax and Baker.

WHAT DEMOCRACY HAS COST.—Before the Democrats brought on the late terrible civil war, a barrel of flour could be purchased for $5, now you have to pay $10, and so in regard to all the necessaries of life. Elect Seymour and Blair, and bring on another revolution, as promised by Blair, and what is to become of the country? Let thoughtful men ponder.

WHILE in Richmond, Chief Justice Chase in conversation with one of the Judges there said that the Republicans in Congress were needlessly frightened about the Supreme Court, at the time the bill was passed restricting the jurisdiction of the Court so that it could not pass upon cases involving the Reconstruction laws, because, as Mr. Chase said, the Coart would have decided them constitutional. (Bosh!)

MAJ. EVANS, an Indiana officer, at a recent meeting in Indianapolis, in the course of a speech, said the only independent work he had ever known Blair to do as an army officer was his march down through lower Tennessee and Mississippi when Grant was besieging Richmond. When asked by Grant if he had taken any prisoners, he replied, "No, but I have burned a d—d sight of houses, and captured all the niggers."

BLAIR! Shades of the chivalry! Who is he? The chief Spoon-stealer and Bummer in North Carolina, and who declared to a "colored female" that she was just as good as any other woman. The refinement, the intelligence and worth of the State must experience a most profound satisfaction in voting for this man Blair. The joy is their owh and a "scallawag" intermeddleth not therewith.—Raleigh Standard.

HON. J. N. MORRIS, of Illinois, says: A few days after the nominations were made by the Convention which assembled in New York on the 4th ult., I had a conversation in Washington City with Genoral Cushing, of Massachusetts, in which that eminent jurist and politician said: "The simple question to determine at the election is, shall General Grant or Frank Blair be President for the next four years? for if Seymour is elected he will not live a year."

POLITICAL HARI-KARI.—The Sun, independent, has the following word of advice for the Democracy: "General Blair's revolutionary letter killed the Democratic ticket as soon as his name was put upon it. The Democratic rebel orators at the South older in their business than Blair, and just as violent and revolutionary, are hard at it completing the work. If they are allowed to keep on in this way much longer, it is doubtful whether the Democracy will be able to carry Kentucky, Delaware and Maryland. Gov. Seymour ought to hurry and call off his dogs. They are hunting nobody but their own party and its principal candidate."

THE New York Times makes this grand point on the XIVth amendment:

Thus stands the Constitution to-day. Even the election of Seymour for President cannot alter the matter. The nullification of reconstruction cannot repeal this constitutional amendment.

And what will be the effect of this amendment in its operation in the South? It takes all its strength from the Democratic platform. That platform nullifies reconstruction, but does any clear headed man for a moment suppose that Louisiana or Mississippi or South Carolina would exclude the negroes from the suffrage, when by so doing they would sacrifice nearly one-half of their power in the United States Congress. The ratification of the XIVth amendment furnishes, therefore, the strongest motive to the Southern States to support the reconstruction measures.

THE Mobile Register (Seymour and Blair) in speaking of the Rebel yell in Tammany Hall when the selection of Seymour was announced, says: "How clear that note used to ring upon the air of Vicksburg of a night in years long past! And who that heard it, or heard of it, will ever forget the panic it sent to the Mexicans when Jefferson Davis's Mississippians pealed it forth at the welcome order to charge the works of Monterey. You can read it now in the Mississippi papers as they recount the incidents of their recent victory over violence and fraud, and it will make the air resonant from the Rio Grande to the Potomac at the last irresistible charge next November, cheering the hearts of our Democratic friends and chilling those of our oppressors. Stand by for that yell." Boys in blue, do you train with this crowd?

Rebels Insult Grant at St. Joseph—Sharp Rebuke by Gen. Sherman.

ST. LOUIS, July 30.—A most dastardly and viliainous insult was offered to General Grant and his party on the occasion of their passage through St. Joseph the other day, The crowd at the depot, on the General's arrival, was immense, and a most cordial and enthusiastic welcome was given him. It was observed that a party of rebels was in the crowd, and, from certain suspicious movements, it was evident they meant mischief. When the General arrived at the Pacific House the crowd had increased to several thousand, and in answer to the most vociferous cheers the General appeared on the balcony and spoke as follows:

"FELLOW CITIZENS:—I thank you for this very cordial reception, but I cannot make you a speech. I have been traveling all the time for the past two weeks in the Western country, and it is the first time I have ever been in the West. I am tired and worn out, and you must therefore excuse me for not speaking."

The General then retired. This little speech was received with tumultuous cheers, after which General Sherman was loudly called for, and finally appeared on the balcony. At this juncture the plans of the rebels were developed.

A man named E. O. Hays, having been filled with whiskey for the occasion, tooted a horn and others cheered for Seymour and hooted and howled in the most boisterous and insulting manner. As soon as this excitement subsided a little, Gen. Sherman spoke as follows: "Gen. Grant and myself know how to appreciate any spirit of respect, but neither he nor myself are to be disconcerted by any large crowd. We are used to large crowds, and we cannot be disconcerted. Gen. Grant has declined to make a speech, and I think occupying the position he does before the country, he acts the part of wisdom."

Here some one called for three cheers for Seymour, and the cheers of the ruffians and the groans of the loyal people interrupted the General for some time. As soon as partial quiet was restored, Gen. Sherman said: "Gentlemen, I do not in general counsel violence, but were I a citizen of St. Joseph, I would take that man, [referring to the one who commenced the disturbance], down to the Missouri river and duck him. We have fought rebels, and we thought they had had enough of fighting." This sentiment called out prolonged and hearty cheers, and the General, finding he could not be heard further, retired.

The crowd lingered around the Pacific House until a very late hour, and General Grant, finally, at ten o'clock, held a levee, and shook hands with a very large number of the people. General Sherman also participated, and an hour more was spent very pleasantly.

The old rebellious spirit of 1861 is cropping out in many parts of this State, and there will be lively times and not a little bloodshed before the campaign is over. Frank Blair's letter, and the teachings of Wade Hampton, Gov. Wise, Robert Toombs, and their allies, are having their legitimate effect, and cannot result but in tumult and conflict.

Gen. Grant arrived here last night, and after spending the morning in the city, went out to his farm.

IS YOUR DISEASE RHEUMATISM?

Many persons, supposing they are suffering from this disease, have applied Liniments, Plasters and other Rheumatic Remedies without obtaining any relief, when in fact the cause of pain is a derangement of the Kidneys. These are small organs, but very important, and any obstruction or interference with its functions are indicated by pain in the back and loins, languor and weakness, difficulty in avoiding and unnatural color of the urine. A Diuretic should t once be resorted to.

DR. SARGENT'S

Liuretic or Backache Pills

THE BILIOUS SEASON.

Seventy-five per cent. of the population of the United States are more or less bilious at this season. The midsummer sun stirs up the bile as certainly as it evolves miasma from the stagnant pools. It is of the u most importance, therefore, to check the tendency of the liver to diseased action with that incomparable anti-bilious specific—HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Neglect the early symptoms, and the chances are that they will result in remittent fever, fever and ague, or jaundice. It is presumed that nobody deliberately desires to risk an attack from any one of these. But carelessness may be as disastrous as temerity. Do not procrastinate. As health is the greatest of earthly blessings, it should be every rational being s first care. Whoever chooses to use HOSTETTER'S BITTERS as a preventive now may escape the bilious epidemic and endemics which so generally prevail toward the close of the heated term and in the fall months. Is it not worth while to be forearmed when the means of defence are within the reach of all? The BITTERS are a NATIONAL REMEDY, everywhere procurable, and endorsed by the intelligent of every class Read what leading members of the community, clergymen, physicians, authors, statesmen, men of science, artists, travelers and distinguished soldiers, say about them. On the strength of these credentials give them a trial. They will be found the very best anti-bilious medicine that modern pharmacy has introduced.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases, which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which I had been advised to "let alone," on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten it on my lungs. I knew that the peculair mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to the discharge, which I believed was a salutary provision of nature to get rid of some morbid condition of the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, I—— C——.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, August 3, 1868.

Gold is firm and still tending upward, being quoted at 145⅝. Government bonds were a little off early in the day, but subsequently rallied and closed firm in the evening. The latest New York quotations as received by Mr. Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

Five Twenties, 1862, 114¾; do 1864, 110⅞; 1865, old, 112¼; new, 108⅝: Ten Forties, 108⅜: Coupons Sixes 1881 115⅝. Railroad Stocks—Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 86¾; Chicago & Northwestern, 82½: Pittsburgh, & Fort Wayne, 110. Mining Shares—Gregary 470; Qurtz Hill, 110; Corydon, 25; Smith & Parmalee.

The local money market is moderately easy, and general business continues dull. Borrowers, who can show good collaterals, find no difficulty in getting accommodations; but parties who cannot do this, have to pay a heavy share.

In our local stock market there is not much doing. There is some inquiry for dividend paying oil stocks, such as Columbia, Triumph, Oil Basin, Western Pennsylvania and Allegheny & Pittsburgh, but we do not hear of many sales, and there is no established prices. The high price of oil has infused considerable strength into some of the favorite oil Companies, and many holders who had long since regarded these stocks as worthless now entertain hopes of dividends.

The following statement exhibits the business of the Pittsburgh Clearing House for the week ending Saturday, August 1st:

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, August 3, 1868.

CATTLE.

There was again a very full supply of Cattle on sale to-day, and the number of good retailing cattle was much larger than last week. The market however, was an exceedingly hard one for drovers, the demand not being as good as it was last week, there being fewer eastern buyers, and the butchers had but little competition. Taking the quality of the stock into consideration, prices ruled lower than last week, and even at the reduction, the market was tame and lifeless, and devoid of that buoyancy, and animation which prevails when buyers and sellers are about evenly matched. The butchers, especially those who are good pay, and are recognized as such by drovers, were very independent, feeling that Cattle were plenty, and that all they had to do was bide their time, and buy cheap. They know as well as the drovers how to take advantage of the market: when Cattle are plenty and the market dull they have no hesitation in "skinning" drovers; while on the other hand, when Cattle are scarce and plenty of buyers, the drover has no compunctions of conscience in skinning the butcher.

As will be seen by reference to sales, the great proportion of the fat Cattle on sale sold at from 7,25 to 7,50 to 7,75, one car load of extra fat Steers were taken for eastern shipment at 8. So far as we can learn, none of the butchers paid above 7,75, and but very few of them bought at that. Medium to good butchers stock sold at from 6 to 7 cts. Stock Cattle may be quoted at 4 to 5,50, and bulls at 3 to 3,50. Fresh cows dull at from $30 to $70 per head.

A Katz sold 20 head of mixed Tuscarawas Co. stock, at 3 to 4,75.

Peter Hartman sold 30 head of Green Co., cows, steers and heifers, at 4,50 to 6,35.

Keefer sold 19 head of Washington Co. steers cows and heifers at 3,50 to 5,50.

Lobman & Zeigler, 30 head Washington Co. steer, and heifers, at 5,25 to 5,75.

Sheitementle & Flinner, sold 21 head of Butler Co. cows and steers, at 4 to 6.

M Verner reports 72 head of Missouri cattle, at 5 to 7,25.

Kraus & Haas, 50 head of mixed Ohio stock at 5,50 to 7,50.

Jas. McAllister, sold 25 head of Ohio stock for Hudson at 5 to 7; and 30 head for some other parties.

C Hudson sold 15 head of bulls at 3,50—had 23 head unsold.

Myers & Needy, sold 14 head of extra steers to Shamberg, at 7,75; retailed 70 head at 6 to 7,75.

Hazlewood & Blackstock, sold 40 head of Missouri cattle at 5 to 7¾.

Marks & Bro; 72 head Penna and Ohio steers at 6 to 7,25.

S Tranerman, 38 head of Illinois and Penna cattle at 5,50 to 7,50.

L & J Shamberg, bought 21 head Penna. bulls from Webster at 3; sold 21 head commission cattle, and 15 head on their own account at 5,60 to 7.

L Rothchilds, sold 38 head of mixed stock at 5 to 8.

Hedges & Taylor, sold 37 head for Keenan at 6 to 7; 18 for Dunlap at 6 to 6,75; 20 for same at 5 to 5,75; and 8 for Timmons at 5,50.

Greenwald & Kahn, sold 50 head of Ohio cattle at 5,50 to 7,75.

Cullen wholesaled 15 head of prime Indiana steers, averaging 1,404 lbs, to Martin at 8.

J Rothchilds, sold 17 head of Butler Co. steers and heifers, for A. N. Wick, at 5 to 5,50.

Stakely & Bro, retailed 56 head of mixed stock, at 3,50 to 6.

Nicholas Carr, sold 21 head of Ohio cattle for Malholm & Morgan, at 5 to 7,40.

Holmes, Lafferty & Glass, wholesaled 18 head to Evans at 6,25; 19 to same at 6,50; 37 head of pretty good steers, averaging about 1,000 lbs, to Martin at 7; and retailed about 40 head.

The reported sales of Cattle, reach nearly nine hundred head in the aggregate, and we feel almost sure that at least one hundred would be left over unsold, so that the whole number of cattle would reach about one thousand head.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

There was a very fair supply of Sheep and Lambs on sale, and the market was not as brisk as it was last week, and if anything, prices ruled lower for all kinds. One bunch of prime fat Weathers brought 5c, and this was the highest price we had reported. We quote at 3 to 5 for common to extra Sheep and $1 to $3,50 per head for Lambs, and these may be regarded as the extremes of the market.

Adam Eckert sold 120 Lambs at $1,50 to $3,50, 96 Sheep for Sargeant at $2,00 to $3¼ per head.

Emmell, Fowler & Co. had in all 425 head of Sheep and Lambs; sold the former at $1,50 to $4,00 and the latter at 75 to $3,25.

Flinner & Sheitementle, sold 170 head; Sheep at $1,50 to $2,25; and Lambs at $2,50.

Stakely & Bro. sold 90 Lambs at $1 to $2.50, and 59 Sheep at $2,00 to $3,50.

L. Linz, had 100 head; sold Sheep at $2,00 and Lambs at $1,50.

C. Thompson, had 120 head; sold Sheep at $2,00 to $4,00; and Lambs at $1,50 to $3,50.

T. Robinson, sold 70 head; Sheep at $2,00 to $3,50 per head.

A. N. Wick, sold 350 head at $1 to $2,50 for Sheep and $1,50 to $3,00 for Lambs.

J. F. Neely, sold 100 head Lambs at $2,25; and 40 head Sheep at an average of $4,25.

M'Millan & Kerr, sold 30 head of prime fat Allegheny county Weathers at 5c. per pound; and 30 head of Lambs at $1,00 per head.

HOGS.

There is next to nothing doing in the Hog market though as the weather gets cooler the retail trade will become more active. We coniinue to quote in a retail way at 9 to 10¼, gross, for light to prime heavy averages.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBUGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, August 3, 1868.

CRUDE—The Crude market was again very quiet to-day, and while there is but little offering and holders are firm, the demand at present prices seems to be very light, as we have no sales to record. Spot oil is nominal at 14¼ to 14½c, though some holders refuse to sell at these figures asking the even 15c. The rise in the Little Kanawha River will doubtless let out a considerable quantity of oil from the Virginia wells, some of which will be sent to this market. A telegram from Burning Springs to-day reports the departure of some boats for Pittsburgh, drawing four and a half feet water. It is reported that both the Virginia and Ohio wells are doing better, and that considerable oil has accumulated in Virginia.

REFINED—The market for Refined oil is also quiet, but a single sale reported, 500 barrels for the first half of August at 34½c. Spot oil is nominal at 34c; August at 34½ to 34¾c.; September and October 35c.; and last five months at 34½c. It was supposed last week that the market would open up pretty brisk to-day, as it was very stiff on Saturday; but these suppositions have not been realized, and the views of dealers in regard to the next turn the market will make are very conflicting.

—Since the above was put in type we have the following sales reported:

REFINED—500 bbls first half for August at 34½c; 1,500 bbls first half for August at 34½c; 2,500 bbls for August to December at 34½c.

CRUDE—2,000 bbls F. O. B. Oil City, sellers option; 10 days notice at $6,50 per bbl; 1,000 bbls at sellers option for October at 14c., 100 bbls, F. O. B. sellers option, at 10 days notice at $5,50 per bbl. at Oil City. 2,000 bbls sellers option for the 20th of August to the 10th of September at 14½c. here.

ARRIVALS—The following are the arrivals of oil to-day:

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

Work for August.

Haying is now completed; except in the wet meadows. The crop of upland hay has been abundant and the most important means of carrying the stock through another winter is thus secured. The fodder corn to keep up the flow of milk, is now coming into use and those who have provided a good supply of this, will find the advantage of it. This is much better than feeding off the secohd growth of the mowing lots. The grass in the pastures. even if not short, is less succulent and juicy, and will yield less milk than it did in June, and there is no better substitute, nor one more easily obtained than corn; the use of which for fodder is extending, even in the West, where we see by our exchanges that the cultivation of it is recommended.

The grain is mostly secured, and the crops generally throughout the country have been bountiful. But the farmer's work is not done, for as he works not only for the present, but for the future, he must not only secure the harvests of the present year, but be preparing for years to come. Much of the work of this month and the next must have reference to the future.

This is the best method for ditching the low lands, as they are comparatively free from water, and for laying drains where they are needed; also for throwing out a supply of muck for compost during the coming winter—thus managing so as to kill two birds with one stone. Use the muck from the ditches for the compost heap, and thus avoid the old ditch banks that used, in former times, to disfigure the meadows.

The hay of the wet meadows has been less valued of late years, especially by the milk farmers, than formerly, and consequently the meadows have been neglected. But such hay is valuable, if cut in season, for young stock, and for dry stock, and is a resource when English hay is short. By proper ditching, much of may be greatly improved in quality. No prudent farmer will neglect his meadow lands.

But whether the muck is obtained from ditches or not, see that a good supply is thrown out, and placed in such a position as to be easy of access at all seasons. There is nothing that will add so much, and at so cheap a rate, to the compost heap—and that is so valuable to our old and sandy soils.

Nature has made wonderful provision for the wants of man, which he will gradually learn to avail himself of. She has stored up in the earth the carbon extracted from the atmosphere by vegetation in ages before man existed on earth, that he may now have a supply of fuel; and she is collecting the carbon extracted in modern times, in the shape of peat and muck, that he may have the means of increasing and continuing the fertility of the soil, to supply the demands of an increasing population.

August is the best time to cut the bushes in the pastures, and many of our old pastures sadly need the bush scythe.

Weeds continue to grow, and the turnips and beets and carrots and late potatoes must not be neglected. The cultivator and hoe must be kept moving. Weeds allowed to go to seed will not only injure the present crop, but make work for next year.

Preparation must also be made this month for fall seeding to grass. We like to get in the seed about the last of the month, that it may get well rooted before the ground freezes. Plow the sod eight or nine inches deep, dress with compost, and harrow it in thoroughly, then sow the seed, and harrow again, and roll, and you will not fail to get a good catch. This practice is becoming very general, and when done seasonably and thoroughly, it is found to be the best way.

Most of the operations to which we have referred above have reference to the future. The farmer must be a man of forecast. To-day is all he can call his own, and to-day he must work for to-morrow, for next year, for all coming time—and for eternity, too. —New England Farmer.

Gathering Fruit.

The appearance and value of fruit depend very much upon when and how it is gathered. Strawberries, if picked carefully with half or quarter of an inch of the stem attached to each berry, and laid carefully into the basket, will carry better and sell for a greater price than when pulled haphazard—some with hulls and stems on and some with them off. Again, if they are gathered when they are perfectly dry, they will keep longer and retain a better flavor than if gathered while wet. A little water not only hastens decay, but it rapidly destroys the flavor of many delicate, soft varieties. After being gathered, they should never be allowed to stand out exposed to the sun as with many varieties it takes but a little while of exposure to a hot, clear sun to destroy their brightness of color.

Currants should also be gathered with their stems; they should also be dry, and all leaves thrown out. Gooseberries, if for shipment, should be gathered dry, and a careful expulsion of all leaves will cause them always to command the best price. Like the strawberries, care should always be taken not to expose them to a hot sun after gathering, for such exposure soon gives the appearance of being half cooked.

Raspberries and blackberries are too often seen in market and on the table half broken and mashed. None but whole and perfect berries should ever go into the box or basket for market. It pays to carefully assort them before sending to market, for the mingling of a few bruised or mashed berries induces decay and detracts from their value in the judgment of the dealer.

Cherries should never be gathered when otherwise than perfectly dry. We have known them to decay entirely in twenty-four hours when gathered while wet. It pays also with cherries for market to carefully sort them over on a table, picking out any mashed or wormy or imperfect fruit before sending to market. Of course the stems are, or always should be, attached, although we have occasionally seen them in market looking more like round cranberries than cherries.

Peaches should be left on the trees until fully ripe, and then gathered carefully with thumb and finger and at once laid into the basket or box in which they are to be marketed. If the bloom is rubbed off the peach, by rough handling, its beauty of appearance is injured, and it will decay much sooner than if untouched. Formerly it was supposed that the peach must be gathered before ripe in order to ship it any distance; but practical experience has proven that ripe fruit, not quite soft, will carry just as well as unripe, and command a much better price.

Pears and apples should never be picked from the tree by breaking the stems. Unless the stem will separate freely from the tree, the fruit is not ripe; it will neither eat nor cook good, and is only fit for those who want a touch of cholera morbus. Apples, as soon as gathered, may be sent direct to market; but nearly every variety of pear is improved in appearance and quality by keeping in close, dark drawers, wrapped in flannel or soft paper, or packed in bran a few days.

For profit, and in order to obtain the highest price, all fruit pays to be assorted into two or more grades. A few scattering large berries, apples or pears, in a quart or bushel, do not assist in advancing the price; but if carefully packed by themselves will bring the highest price, and often induce the dealer to buy the small fruit in order to get the large.—Horticulturalist.

Hunting for the Cows.

Many of our farmers have wasted years of valuable time just because they did not teach their cows to come home at night. Any one who has ever lived or traveled in the country will remember the familiar Co-bos, Co-bos, of the farmer's son, or hired man, as they endeavor to coax the cows from the woods or the tall grass in the great pastures. We have had a little experience in these matters, and well remember how many times we have waded through the brush and bog looking for the cows, and, boy-like, we thought them dreadful contrary animals. But we have lived long enough to learn better, and now think that the biped was the more contrary animal of the two. Boys, we will tell you a secret that will save you a great deal of trouble, and it is this: Just sow a few rows of corn in drills, where it will be handy to the milking place, and every time the cows are driven up at night, or in the morning, give each one a good armful of the fresh cornstalks, and our word for it, the cows will always be on hand at milking time. Besides this, they will give more milk, and forget to kick over the milk pail, even if you do whistle a little too loud. —Weekly Sun.

French Method of Raising Tomatoes.

As soon as a cluster of flowers is visible, the stem is topped down to the cluster, so that the flowers terminate the stem. The effect is, that the sap is immediately impelled into the two buds below the cluster, which soon push strongly and produce another cluster of flowers each. When these are visible, the branch to which they belong is also topped down to their level; and this is done successively. By this means the plants become stout dwarf bushes, not above eighteen inches high. In order to prevent their falling over, sticks or strings are stretched horizontally along the rows, so as to keep the plants erect. In addition to this, all the laterals that have no flowers, and after the fifth topping, all laterals, whatsoever, are nipped off. In this way the ripe sap is directed into the fruit, which acquires a beauty, size and excellence unattained by other means.

The Crops.

Once more our readers may rejoice at the prospect of cheap bread. For the past six years with a full or scant harvest the people have paid prices for bread entirely disproportioned to the price of labor. Many causes have operated in producing and continuing this state of things, but the chief cause may be traced to "corners," combinations and monopolies in the market. The wheat has been bought up by capitalists on speculation, and held till people must buy at any price or stop eating. This may be easily done when the wheat harvest is limited to certain States or localities, but this year the wheat crop is splendid all over the country; wheat growing was nearly abandoned a few years ago, but the incoming crops promise abundantly. The fields are too numerous and wide spread for the wheat Shylocks to enter this season.

About ninety thousand mowers and reapers are annually made in the United States for this and a foreign market. The intelligent part of labor dispensed with in the field is, therefore, afforded a market at a much higher rate of remuneration in the workshop in making machines than is realized from the field by their introduction. Yet the aggregate amount of wages paid is greater.

It may not be uninteresttng to the farmers to know that the new-fashioned potato bug (I don't know the scientific name of it,) only lasts two seasons in the same piece of ground. Such is the case, as has been thoroughly demonstrated to my satisfaction. It is a great satisfaction to know that they are so short-lived, as they are the most destructive insect that we have any knowledge of.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Methodist Church, Fifth street, next door to GAZETTE office.

Petroleum Nasby will lecture in Pittsburgh next season.

The Hotels are doing scarcely a paying business, there being but few strangers in the city.

The Libraries and Reading Rooms about the city are largely attended, and all boast of unprecedented prosperity.

Edwin Booth will probably return to this city next winter, but Forrest will stay at home—a wise determination on his part.

Peaches are becoming a little more plentiful in the markets, but they are rather too expensive to be purchased very liberally.

Proposed New Bank.—There is some talk of establishing a new Bank in Birmingham. The project has assumed as yet no definite shape.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of partner wanted in a manufacturing business in another column. This is a splendid chance for investment.

There has been no appearance of the cholera as yet this season in Pittsburgh. Notwithstanding the heat the public health continues remarkably good.

Many of the Penn street houses have their hall doors boarded, a sign to the initiated that their occupants are sojourning at the fashionable summer resorts.

Meets To-Night.—The Allegheny Board of School Controllers will hold a regular monthly meeting in the Common Council Chamber, City Building, this evening at 7½ o'clock.

The soda water dealers of Chicago and New York have reduced their prices for that delicious summer beverage. Why is not their good example followed in this neighborhood?

Slapped Her.—Sarah Madden alleges that Lottie Gorbie, residing at No. 20 Third street, slapped her in the face and called her bad names, Lottie was arrested and held for a hearing.

False Alarm.—The alarm of fire given from box 23, corner of Palo Alto street and Taylor avenue, Allegheny, yesterday morning, was caused by the testing of the box by Chief Engineer Crow.

Serious Charges.—Ellen Gregg, an inmate of the County Home, made information yesterday before Alderman Strain, charging Jas. M. McElroy with adultery, fornication and bastardy. A warrant was issued.

Picnic of the Turnverein.—The Pittsburgh Turnverein held a picnic at Eberhardt's Garden, on Troy Hill, yesterday. It was largely attended, quite a number of the Allegheny Turners participating.

The Second Ward Grant Club, the first in the field, will meet at headquarters to-night for the purpose of making arrangements for the furnishing of their rooms and the establishment of a central reading room.

The Oil Excitement is again threatening to break out. Nearly all our merchants are commencing to dabble "just a little" in promising localities. The Pleasantville developments have caused a revival of the fever.

Alleged Desertion.—Mrs. Ella McDonnell made information yesterday, before Alderman Mullen, against her husband, John McDonnell, for desertion. John was arrested and committed for a further hearing in default of $500 bail.

A knock-down occurred last night at the corner of Fifth and Smithfield streets between two prominent but antagonistic politicians. No police interfered, and the breach was subsequently made up by the usual shaking of hands.

The House of Refuge inmates are said to be the best disciplined body of boys and girls in the United States. Eating, drinking, working, praying, studying, recitation and exercise are all done on a systematic and universal plan and like clock work.

To-Night, at the Keystone Skating Rink, Allegheny City, Rev. Wm. Evans, one of the most accomplished elocutionists of the country, gives a select reading, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. All are invited to be present.

Postponed.—On account of the small attendance, influenced no doubt by the rain, the organization of a Grant Club of the citizens of the Fifth, old Third ward, in this city, did not take place last night. The affair has been postponed until next Friday evening.

Alleged Larceny as Bailee.—Alderman Strain yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of —— Gallinger, residing on the corner of O'Hara and Penn streets, charged on oath of Geo. Green with larceny as bailee of a watch chain, valued at twenty-five dollars.

Suburban.—Oliver McClintock, Esq., the well-known Fifth street merchant, has almost completed one of the handsomest suburban residences in this vicinity. The structure is located on McClintock's Hill, on the Perrysville plank road, just beyond the Observatory.

Ward Meetings.—We call the attention of the Republicans living in the Eleventh, (old Seventh,) First ward and Fifth ward, Allegheny, to notices for meetings to be held this evening in their different wards. All who are in favor of the election of Grant and Colfax should attend.

Another Bliss affair is bruited about, and some of our fast young men are seriously alarmed. The game is about "played out," as the boys would say, and as such cases rarely come to Court, we can but surmise that they are put up to levy black mail from those who fear exposure.

Too Much So.—A colored individual named Benjamin Stewart felt a little too much emancipated in Allegheny yesterday, and acted in a free manner, not in strict compliance with law and order, which resulted in his being arrested and conveyed to the lock-up for disorderly conduct.

Deep in Law.—James Flaherty yesterday lodged two informations before Alderman Strain against John and Kate Donahue, residing at No. 26 Duquesne way, one for disorderly conduct and the other for keeping a disorderly house. The accused were arrested and held for Court in the sum of $300.

This Evening, at half-past seven o'clock, the Seventh and Eighth Wards Grant and Colfax Club will hold a meeting at the Franklin street School House. A large attendance is desirable, as the Constitution and By-laws of the Club, and other important business, will be brought before the members for action.

School Teachers Elected.—The School Directors of Lower St. Clair Township have elected the following teachers for the ensuing year: Schools Nos. 1 and 2 (Manor street), Principal, John A. Logan; Assistant, Josephine Brennan. Nos. 3 and 4 (Mount Oliver), Principal, J. K. Bane; Assistant, Mary Hunter. No. 5 (Williamsburg), Hannah J. Lyon. No. 6 (Saw Mill Run), Mary K. Polen. Nos. 7 and 8 (Brownsston), Principal, W. P. Montgomery; Assistant, Jennie J. Creighton. No. 9 (Allentown), Lizzie Hettrich.

Disorderly.—Officer Shaffer, of the Allegheny police, arrested a man named Jack Zimmerman for being drunk and acting disorderly on Federal street yesterday afternoon. The fellow made a stout resistance but was overpowered by the officer who lodged him safely in the lock-up. He will have a hearing to-day.

Temperance Meeting.—Rev. Paul Coombs, the Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Temperance Society, was to have addressed the friends of the cause in front of the Allegheny Postoffice last evening, but the rain interfered with the arrangement. For once too much cold water came in contact with the Temperance reform.

Fortunate.—Yesterday afternoon, while a carpenter was engaged in repairing the cornice of a house on Ohio street, Allegheny, he missed his footing and fell to the ground. He was fortunate enough to alight on his feet and so was saved from serious injury, the only effect being a slight stunning from the force of the fall.

The contest for the Republican nomination to the municipal offices at the forthcoming primary meetings is growing warm and exciting. There are a number of persons willing to serve their fellow-citizens in the various offices. It is generally conceded that the Democrats will put Mr. Jas. Blackmore in nomination for re-election to the office of Mayor.

Questions Answered.—Those large heaps of earth scattered over the Allegheny Commons, which have attracted so much attention, and regarding which so many questions have been asked, are compost heaps, formed by a combination of lime with other substances which are to be used in fertilizing the soil around the trees when planted in the proposed park.

Almost Completed.—The Federal Street and Pleasant Valley Passenger Railway is almost completed, and will be in running order about the fifteenth of the present month, if the work progresses according to expectations. But a very small portion of the track remains to be laid, and it will be completed as soon as the cars arrive, which will be about the time stated.

Progressing.—The new building for the use of the First National Bank of Birmingham is progressing rapidly. The workmen are engaged on the last story of brickwork, and have it almost ready for roofing. When once closed up, a strong force of workmen will be put on and every effort made to complete it rapidly. It is expected to be ready for occupancy by fall.

Boy Drowned.—Yesterday afternoon, shortly after one o'clock, a boy residing on McKee street, Birmingham, was drowned in the Monongahela river, near Chambers' Glass Works. Parties were engaged in searching for the body during the afternoon and evening, but up to a late hour last evening it had not been found. We failed to learn the name of the deceased.

The New Organ of the Third Presbyterian Church, one of Hook's (Boston) best make, with the vox humana stop, will arrive in the city to-day, and will be immediately erected in the elegant new church on Sixth street. This organ will be much sweeter in tone than the mammoth Jardine organ in the Cathedral, and we daresay will be a superior instrument altogether, although not so large.

Temperance.—The Temperance men are actively at work canvassing for the advancement of their cause. They meet in Convention Tuesday, August 11, to place in nomination a candidate for County Commissioner. As yet no particular man has been specially talked of for the position, but from appearances at present the coming man is a well known advocate of the cause in Allegheny.

Alleged Assault on a Boy.—Simon Johnston made information before Alderman Taylor yesterday against Charles O'Donnell for committing an assault and battery upon the person of his step-son, Grafton Burbridge. The alleged offense was committed at the head of Wylie street, and it is stated, besides abusing the boy, that O'Donnell threatened to take the boy's life. A warrant was issued.

Malicious Trespass.—James R. Mellon made information before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, against several boys for trespassing on his father's property on the Bloomfield pike, and carrying off fruit, besides breaking the trees and destroying the shrubs on the grounds. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the boys, whose names are Geo. Rawhauser, Thos. Herron, Geo. Mimk and Jno. Cannon.

Active.—The Republicans of Allegheny have become thoroughly aroused and are engaging actively in the campaign. A stand to be used as their headquarters has just been erected in the Third ward square of the Diamond, and from it during the coming struggle treason and traitors will receive many a scathing rebuke, and around it many a hearty shout for the loyal candidates, Grant and Colfax, will make the welkin ring.

Disorderly Conduct.—Elizabeth Pentz made information yesterday, before Alderman Strain, against Sydney Pentz, for disorderly conduct and surety of the peace. She alleges that Sydney is in the habit of throwing dead chickens and the contents of slop pails around her house, and using very violent language toward her. At the hearing the case was finally compromised by Sydney promising to desist from these practices in the future.

Street Opening.—A petition is in circulation, signed by a number of the property holders in the vicinity, asking for the opening of Taylor avenue, in the Second ward, Allegheny, from its present terminus at Palo Alto street to Beaver street, a distance of two squares. The petition will be presented to Councils at their next meeting, and as the improvement is one which is very much needed it will no doubt receive favorable consideration.

Serious Accident.—Yesterday afternoon about two o'clock a German, while driving a two horse wagon loaded with coal along Smithfield street, near Fifth, was struck by one of the wheels and knocked down. The hind wheel of the wagon passed over his left leg, below the knee, crushing it in a horrible manner. He was conveyed to his home in Birmingham and medical aid summoned, but it is feared that amputation will be necessary. We failed to ascertain his name.

We have received from Prof. Charles C. Mellor, No. 81 Wood street, the following popular music: The Wandering Boy, words by Henry Kirk White, dedicated to George M. Alexander, Esq., music composed by James Giles; Silver Leaf Polka, composed and dedicated to Miss Stella Jones, one of Pittsburgh's amateurs, by D. C. Haughawout; also, Fading Lilly, in memory of Miss Francis Henlein, New Castle, composed by Edward Ambuhl. These pieces of music should be had by all our readers who are anyway fond of music. They are published by Mr. Mellor, and can be had at his store, 81 Wood street.

In our promenade along North avenue, Allegheny, on Sunday evening, we had the pleasure of meeting seven cows and five pigs. These lovely specimens of zoölogy are, perhaps, allowed to wander about in order to add natural beauty and life to the beautiful scenery of North Commons; but, if we dare make a suggestion, it would be that these animals, charming as they must be to some eyes, would look vastly better in the city pound, if such a place now exists, and if the great pig sty in one corner of that portion of the Commons which is enclosed as a lawn in front of the Penitentiary is not a city pound, we can not possibly imagine why it can be there.

Opening of a Magnificent New Bank Building.

Yesterday, by a grand banquet dinner, the magnificent and palatial new building of the Peoples' National Bank was formally taken possession of by the bank, and a sumptuous dinner was afforded its stockholders and patrons. The building is one of the handsomest in the city, and in style of finish and point of convenience cannot be surpassed. The main building is two stories in height, and has a front of twenty feet on Wood street. The front elevation is composed entirely of cut stone, the material used being remarkably free from spots or discoloration. The first story is thirty feet high, and forms a large arch, supported on either side by ornamented columns, with capitals. The archivault is set with "vouselors," or raised stones similar to a keystone, which present a very handsome appearance. The triangular fields on each side of the arch are ornamented with medalions in the form of shields, encircled by wreaths. This arch is divided into doorways and windows, the separating stone-work being tastefully designed. The second story of the building contains three clustered windows, arched at the top, and on either side are Corinthian columns supporting a medalian cornice. In the pediment there is an allegorical representation of Liberty, surrounded by flags, from beneath the folds of which appear an anchor and a cog or tooth-wheel, typifying manufacture and commerce. The carving, both in this piece and in the columns before referred to, is skilfully and artistically executed. An ornamental parapet surmounts the pediment, and on either side two large eagles, sculptured from stone, are placed.

The banking room is on the first floor, on a level with Wood street, and is a model of taste and elegance. It is twenty feet wide by sixty in length. The ceiling is semicircular in front, about thirty feet high in the center, and is handsomely ornamented in stucco. The rear part of the room is furnished in a style harmonizing with the front of the building, and around the semicircle are circular windows, filled with stained glass. The desks, counters, doorframes, etc., are oiled walnut, and the floor is laid in tesselated marble. In the rear of the room is the vault which is constructed in a manner which will defy alike the ravages of fire or the operations of burglars.

In the rear of the main building is an L shaped wing, which extends the full width of two lots. In this wing, and on the same level with the banking room, are elegantly furnished apartments for the President and Directors, besides lunch room, wash room, etc. These rooms are all finished in uniform style, the wood work being of oiled walnut, and some light colored wood, and the ceiling ornamented in stucco work. The building throughout is most conveniently arranged for the purposes of a banking institution, and reflects credit upon the city as well as upon the taste and liberality of the bank.

The People's Bank is now permanently located in the new building, and with Samuel Rea, as President, George Black, Vice President, and F. M. Gordon, Cashier, all of whom enjoy a wide reputation as experienced business men, it promises not only to maintain its reputation as a reliable institution but to even increase its business prosperity.

Emancipation Day—The Celebration Yesterday—How it Passed off.

The colored population of this yicinity yesterday celebrated the Thirty-fourth Anniversary of Emancipation. Its observance should properly have taken place on Saturday, but owing to the lateness of that day in the week it was thought best to postpone the affair until Monday. At an early hour yesterday the excitement commenced, and from "early morn till dewy eve" the celebration was carried on with earnestness and hearty abandon, which gave good evidence of how well the occasion was appreciated.

The Pittsburgh population generally repaired to the different Groves in the vicinity, and in "revelry and mirth" managed to put in the time very agreeably. The largest number thronged the shady retreats and cool recesses of McFarland's Grove, where aided by the music the dance and the promenade, the hours glided swiftly and delightfully by. Orators for the day had been appointed, but for some reason they failed to put in an appearance, causing somewhat of a break in the programme, which seemed, however, to be readily filled with the other exercises. Linden Grove also attracted quite a fair assemblage, all of whom appeared to be enjoying themselves as only such a company, an such an occasion could enjoy themselves.

In Allegheny the day was celebrated in a somewhat similar manner. About eleven o'clock the Lincoln Guards, commanded by Lieutenant Smallwood, turned out, and, headed by a martial band, paraded through some of the principal streets, after which they marched to Gallagher's Grove, in the rear of Observatory Hill, which was the rendezvous for the "celebrators" in Allegheny. At this place large numbers of them gathered, and emancipated from the cares and perplexities of life for one day at least, they entered with zest into the enjoyment of the occasion and gave themselves up to festivity and rejoicing.

During the afternoon Prof. L. A. Neal mounted the stand and made an instructive and practical address to the assemblage on the duties of the colored race politically and socially, which was received with evidences of great interest by all present, and seemed very appropriate to the occasion.

There was nothing of special interest going on in the evening but as the different picnics were broken up, the individuals dispersed homewards, perhaps to find a more quiet and additional pleasure in talking and musing over the day's adventures and experiences, each no doubt feeling gratified at the manner in which it had been spent, and treasuring up its recollection as one of the bright spots in the memory of the past.

Not Dead, but Lieing.

Edward Burnet was arrested yesterday by officer Gumbert, of the Mayor's police, on an information for false pretence, made against him by Mr. Edmund Evans, of East Liberty. It is alleged that the accused, who is in the employ of Mr. Evans, came to him about a week ago and requested the loan of forty dollars, stating that he wanted the money to pay the funeral expenses of his wife, who had just expired. Mr. Evans, being a kind-hearted man, and feeling a sympathy for the bereaved, loaned him the money. Subsequently, it is alleged, he discovered that the whole affair was a fraud, the woman not being dead at all. The officer, proceeding with the warrant to arrest the accused, came upon him before he had risen yesterday morning at his residence, finding also his faithful partner at his side, who seemed remarkably active for a deceased woman. At the hearing he was held in the sum of $300 for his appearance at Court. It is quite likely, however, that the case will be compromised.

The Tombs.

The Tombs last night was respectably well filled. Cell No. 1 contained an "Irisher," who had imbibed too much, and held guttural conversation with cell 13, which was occupied by a female of doubtful virtue. Their conversation was shocking to an extreme, and compelled a pious looking individual who had voluntarily sought lodgings in the delectable tombs to pray for deliverance, preferring to walk the streets rather than listen to such awful language. Several colored persons who had been observing the "glorious third" in a "glorious fourth" style were incarcerated, and will, doubtless, this morning, be permitted to depart free of cost by our considerate Mayor.

Railroad Accident at Mansfield--A Man Killed.

Coroner Clawson held an inquest yesterday afternoon on the body of a man named Barney Toner, who was killed at Mansfield. It appears that the deceased had been in the employ of Messrs. Negley & Co. as a miner at the Grant coal works, Mansfield, but had been out of work for some time. Yesterday morning he started up to the works to see if he could get a situation, and while standing on the track near the company's tipple, the morning express on the Pittsburgh and Columbus railroad, due there at 10:20, came along, and Toner in endeavoring to cross the track to get out of the way was struck by the locomotive and knocked against a freight train which had stopped on the other track. The force of the blow was such as to crush in his left side, and otherwise severely injured him. He was conveyed to his boarding house in Mansfield, and Dr. Dale summoned, but notwithstanding all that medical skill could do he expired shortly after one o'clock in the afternoon. At the inquest a number of witnesses were examined, after which the jury returned a verdict "that the deceased came to his death on the 3d of August, 1868, at Mansfield, from being struck by the express train on the Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad going west. No blame can be attached to the employes of the train, but the jury are of the opinion that the morning express train is run at too great a speed through Mansfield." The deceased was a native of Ireland, about forty-one years of age, and had been in the employ of Messrs. Negley about two years.

An Original Method.

James Campbell, of the First ward, Allegheny, was charged before Mayor Drum with threatening to kill a citizen on Saturday last. Officer Kingan found the man at Kennedy's Landing on the Ohio river, and was about to arrest him when the accused jumped into a skiff and commenced rowing out into the river. The officer, not to be outwitted, also procured a skiff and started in pursuit. Finding himself foiled in this attempt, Campbell came back to the shore, landing on some rafts and starting on a run. Being almost overtaken he took to the water again, this time, however, without a skiff. Unfortunately he had never learned to swim, and would have been drowned had not the officer fished him out just in time. He was taken to the Mayor's office and fined five dollars and costs, and then released after giving bonds for his future good conduct.

A Diversion.

Some time during Friday night, or early Saturday morning, a pail of butter was stolen from the cellar connected with the residence of Mr. Louis Zellar, in East Birmingham. The owner of the stolen property informed Justice Ammon's police of the occurrence. After a diligent search it was discovered that the thief, evidently fearing detection, had concealed the article in the yard of McGonnigle's planing mill. The employés of the mill finding it, and thinking some "guardian angel" had sent it as a slight testimonial, with much rejoicing and thanks they divided the spoil equally amongst themselves, and when the owner came along naught was left him but the empty pail. He was so well satisfied with securing even it, that he good naturedly said nothing of the contents, and allowed the matter to drop.

In a Smashing Humor.

Frank Schwallan, Nicholas Damarsh, Henry Shaffer and Thomas Murray were arrested yesterday and brought before Justice Ammon of East Birmingham, charged on oath of Louis Hauck with disorderly conduct. It is alleged that the parties attended a pic-nic given by the St. Vincent's Literary Society, at Rup's Grove on Saturday, at which they acted in a very disorderly manner. Coming home from the pic-nic Hauck alleges that they entered his saloon in Brownstown and proceeded to smash things, destroying everthing that came in their way. They were held for a further hearing. The information charges quite a number of others with the same offence, but none of them have yet been arrested.

Medicinal Waters, &c.

At the well managed and first class drug and perfumery house of Messrs. Burns & Caughey, corner of St. Clair and Penn streets, the lovers of pure and health-giving Congress, Vichy, Saratoga, Kissingen and Seltzer waters will find them on draught from clean and ice-cold porcelain fountains. Nowhere else in the city can these medicinal waters be obtained in more delicious style and purity. The soda water fountain with its fresh fruit syrups are also attractions at this house. In connection with this notice, we would inform the ladies that they will find also here a magnificent new stock of toilet articles of new importations and very pretty designs and styles.

Abusing a Horse.

Mr. Miller, of the firm of Miller & Bradley, livery stable keepers, on Ohio street, Allegheny, made information last evening before Mayor Drum against two colored men, named respectively Oscar Robinson and James Holley, for recklessly driving and abusing a horse. It is alleged that the accused hired a buggy of the prosecutor to attend a pic-nic in Gallagher's Grove, just outside the city. In the evening when they returned the animal it was completely exhausted, and died a short time after being put in the stable. The accused were arrested by officer Kingan and brought to the lock-up. They will have a hearing this morning.

Fire in South Pittsburgh.

About half-past twelve o'clock last night a fire broke out in a one-story frame building near the end of the Monongahela bridge, in South Pittsburgh, occupied as a wagon-making and blacksmith shop by Messrs. Rigdon & Nelson. The building, together with its contents, was totally destroyed. It contained but very little material aside from the tools, and the loss, which is trifling, is covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown. The Neptune and Duquesne steamers went over and rendered good service in preventing the spread of the flames.

Western University.

The success of this excellent institution renders it unnecessary for parents to send their sons from home for a first-class commercial, scientific or classical education. Every advantage that can be had elsewhere is afforded here, and we would do well to appreciate the blessings we have in our midst rather than seek them at greater inconvenience. Kind and liberal friends, together with an able corps of instructors, have built up an institution which we are proud to honor, and we would fain see its halls crowded with eager seekers after knowledge. The fall term opens September first.

Alleged False Pretence.

Wm. Aimsworth made information before Alderman McMasters yesterday, against Jonathan Vickers for false pretence. The parties reside at Mansfield. Aimsworth alleged that Vickers obtained boarding from him to the amount of thirty-one dollars by representing that he had a large sum of money coming from Culp & Gamble, which he would allow the prosecutor to collect in payment of the bill. Instead of doing this, Aimsworth says that Vickers secretly gave his brother-in-law an order for the money, which he collected and refused to settle the bill. A warrant was issued.

The Benninghoff Robbery--Hearing on Wednesday--Additional Arrest.

The detectives engaged in working up the Benninghoff robbery case, on Saturday made another arrest, the prisoner being one of the hands engaged on the farm at the time of the robbery. It is alleged that the accused gave the necessary information which enabled the thieves to carry out their plan so successfully. The parties now in the Franklin jail, the particulars of whose arrest we published some time since, will have a hearing on Wednesday, when fuller particulars will be developed. Officer Hague, who is the chief detective in the matter, has not yet returned from Canada whither he went on business connected with the affair. The names of the arrested parties are George Miller, Louis Walde and John Shaffort.

Found and Lost.

Yesterday afternoon the body of a man, in a state of decomposition, was found on the wheel of the steamer Baltic, lying at the foot of Penn street, in the Monongahela River. The boat had steam up preparatory to departing on a trip down the river, and it is supposed the body was fished up by the wheel as it turned round slowly in the water. The Coroner was notified of the affair and sent down Alex. Aiken, undertaker, to bring the body to the Mayor's office. When Mr. Aiken arrived at the boat he found that the body had floated off and was lost. It had been rather loosely secured to the wheel, and as the current at that place is very strong, it is supposed that the waves from passing boats had broken it loose and carried it away in the current.

City Controller.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The name of Mr. Robert J. McGowan is mentioned as an aspirant for the office of City Controller, subject to the decision of the Union Republican party, on the 15th of August.

Mr. McGowan was born and raised in this county; he is a hard working and industrious man; an honest, upright and reliable citizen, and is worthy and deserving the hearty support of the people. He is an estimable gentleman, possessed of a high grade of moral character, good judgment and honesty of purpose. His faithful services on the Finance Committee while a member of the City Councils enables him to fully understand the financial affairs of the city and the workings of the Controller's office; his education and thorough knowledge of the science of book keeping qualifies him for a first class Controller, and will enable him to discharge the duties of that office with ability, and to the advantage and satisfaction of the tax-payers.

However, should any one entertain doubts—through dishonorable and false representations which have been made by parties deeply interested in his defeat—of his knowledge, qualifications and ability to perform the duties of City Controller, they will receive satisfactory explanation by a personal interview with Mr. McGowan himself.

SIXTH WARD.

A First Class Drug and Perfumery House.

Prominent amongst the well conducted and first-class drug and perfumery establishment of the city, stands the old established and favorably known house of Simon R. Johnson, corner of Fourth and Smithfield streets. Mr. J., from unusual facilities for purchasing, secured during a recent visit to Europe, is enabled to keep this market supplied with the finest assortment and quality of foreign articles of drugs, perfumeries and tailet articles, and at prices much below those which prevail elsewhere. Yesterday we had the pleasure of looking through the really fine stock of perfumeries and toilet articles he has on hand, and must award it the first place amongst those held by cotemporary houses. It embraces all the favorite, domestic and foreign articles which have forced their way through merit alone into public favor. Nowhere else in the city can goods in this line be purchased to better advantage, for while the range of selection is broad and varied, the prices are exceedingly just and reasonable. Of toilet articles, a leading specialty of this house, the reader can have no just appreciation, unless paying a visit and looking through the stock. Mr. Johnson keeps employed careful clerks, thoroughly learned in the mysteries of pharmacy, who are constantly in attendance to fill prescriptions, and put up medicines. The highest compliment on their ability is the fact that not a single prescription has been wrongly interpreted or filled since the establishment of the house. For any and everything in the line of drugs, perfumeries, toilet articles, liquors, cigars, &c., &c., we commend the house of Mr. Johnson to our readers, and trust that even a still larger share of patronage than has hitherto been awarded it, may reward the untiring efforts of the proprietor to meet the wants and demands of the public in this line of trade.

Weed Sewing Machines

Do not take fits or spells when you want them to work. Use a straight, short, needle, make the tight lock-stitch, have an inimitable, self-adjusting tension, and will stich, hem, bind, braid, ruffle, quilt, stitch gather and sew on at the same time, tuck without measuring and mark the other, performing greater range and variety than any other machine, and use less thread.
